Redeemed Note Featured at the American Numismatic Association Mid-Winter Convention

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing's ANA Mid-Winter Souvenir Card boasts the distinctive intaglio impression of an 1878 $5,000 United States Note. All specimens of this interest bearing note have been redeemed. There are no known specimens in circulation.

The central vignette of this note, an eagle with wings widespread, demonstrates the genius of engraver William Chorlton. Fine lines, a distinctive quality of intaglio printing, graphically capture the minute details of this beautiful engraving. The eagle is posed on a shield atop a rugged crag, clutching arrows in one talon and olive branches in the other. As a backdrop, the faint image of the Capitol and a ship are in sharp contrast to the vivid lines of the eagle.

This exciting souvenir card may be purchased at the following locations:

- ANA Mid-Winter Show '89 -- in mint condition at the Broadmoor Hotel in Colorado Springs, Colorado, March 3-5, 1989.
- The Bureau of Engraving and Printing -- in Washington, D.C. in mint condition or with a U.S. Postal Service Cancellation (POC) to commemorate the first day of sale (March 3, 1989). Available until December 31, 1989 or while supplies last.

Agricultural Scene Featured at IPMS '89

The second of three special die-stamped intaglio prints, to be issued by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing for 1989, will be featured at the International Paper Money Show in Memphis, Tennessee on June 23-25, 1989. An agricultural scene in the forefront of this elegant intaglio print depicts farming as a major industry in the economic composition of early America. The covered wagon, and train project the idea of westward expansion and emergence of a growing nation. A sailing ship and steamship, to the right of the agricultural scene, express advances in technology and the expansion of trade to other continents. The economy of a young America is yet another facet of the American Heritage theme explored by the 1989 series of special intaglio prints and souvenir cards. Original miscellaneous die #2059, engraved in 1875, was used to create this spectacular print. The agricultural scene is retraced in an aqua offset background of this special print.

Agricultural Scene

Bureau Sets Calendar for 1990 Exhibits

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing is looking forward to an exciting exhibit schedule for FY 1990. The Bureau will participate in four numismatic, two stamp and two combination (numismatic and philatelic) exhibits. The selected exhibitions offer a wide geographical area of participation for the Bureau, and a unique mix of small and large sized shows.

The sites selected are:

Florida United Numismatists - FUN 1990 to be held in Tampa, Florida, January 4-7, 1990. This numismatic event will feature a live demonstration on the Spider Press and the Billion Dollar Display.

American Numismatic Association Mid-Winter - ANA Mid-Winter, a numismatic exhibition, will be held in San Diego, California March 2-4, 1990 and will highlight an antique currency display and special exhibit.

Central States Numismatic Society - CSNS, a numismatic event, will be held in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, April 6-8, 1990. The Bureau will feature the Spider Press and a collection of antique currencies.

Western Philatelic Exhibition - ARIPEX which is a philatelic exhibit will be held in Phoenix, Arizona, April 20-22, 1990. A very special selection of rare stamps will be exhibited in full sheet unperforated form.

Dallas Coin and Stamp Exposition - DCSE will be held in Dallas, Texas, June 14-17, 1990. This combination of the two interests, philatelic and numismatic, will feature a variety of stamps and unusual currency.

American Numismatic Association - ANA is an annual convention to be held this year in Seattle, Washington, August 22-26, 1990. The Bureau will bring their antique printing press, the Spider Press, to this numismatic event.

- Continued -

American Philatelic Society - STAMPSHOW is the Society's annual philatelic event and will be held in Cincinnati, Ohio, August 23-26. A unique selection of postage stamps has been chosen as the focal point of the Bureau's display.

Denver Westex Coin and Stamp Show - WESTEX will be held in Denver, Colorado, September 20-23, 1990. This is a well attended combined show. The Bureau will bring sheets of its rarest stamps and currency for display.

The Bureau looks forward to presenting this educational forum to the public in each of the cities they visit. The combination of historical materials (postage stamps and currency), special exhibits such as the Paper Making Exhibit, and live demonstrations make this exhibit year especially appealing.

The Bureau will create a series of souvenir cards to commemorate its participation in each of the exhibitions. The theme for the numismatic cards evolves around incomplete and unfinished dies...an unfinished symphony of beauty and elegance, proposed dies for U.S. currency, but never issued as they were originally designed.

Philatelic cards explore the realm of innovation, and of what might have been. The issues for the Trans-Mississippi Exposition of 1898 were supposed to have been produced in two colors. Due to the intervention of the Spanish-American War this beautiful series of stamps was produced in a single color. The Philatelic souvenir cards will feature what the stamp would have looked like in two colors and what was actually issued.

Details of the subscription service for this series will be announced in June 1989. The cards will also be available as announced and can be purchased selectively as they are issued.

Distinctive Series 1907 $5 United States Note
Featured by The Bureau
at the International Paper Money Show

The $5 United States Note (Series 1907) face featured on the Bureau of Engraving and Printing's International Paper Money Show (IPMS) souvenir card a classic work of engraving. The superb portrait of Andrew Jackson was engraved by Alfred Sealy, based on a painting by the renowned American artist, Thomas Sully. The central vignette of a pioneer and his family was captured in fine detail by engraver Henry Gugler.

This note, unlike series prior to 1907, features a red "v" with a banner draped across on the left side of the note. The word "Dollar" is spelled out within the confines of the banner. An offset reproduction of a figure taken from the Centennial Share Certificate of 1876 creates a background motif for this card.

This exciting souvenir card may be purchased at the following locations:

- IPMS '89 -- in mint condition at the Cook Convention Center in Memphis, Tennessee June 23-25, 1989.
- The Bureau of Engraving and Printing -- in Washington, D.C. in mint condition or with a U.S. Postal Service Cancellation (POC) to commemorate the first day of sale (June 23, 1989). Available until December 31, 1989 or while supplies last.

Federal Duck Stamp and Souvenir Card Now on Sale

The 1989 Federal Duck Stamp and Souvenir Card Set is now on sale and available at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing (Bureau). Purchases of this spectacular souvenir card and stamp may be made at the Bureau's Visitors Center or through the mail.

Mint Souvenir Cards which include the actual $12.50 Federal Duck Stamp are available at the Bureau's Visitors Center which is open from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., Monday through Friday except Federal holidays. The Set cost $18.00 at the Visitors Center and is also available through the mail at a cost of $19.50 (order form on reverse). Supplies are very limited and the Bureau reserves the right to limit the number of Sets sold to any individual or organization.

The 1989 Duck Stamp features the work of Neal Anderson, the winner of the 1989 competition. Anderson "paints almost exclusively in gouache -- a gum-and-honey-based tempera paint. His work is known for its detail, sharpness, and clarity." His winning entry featured a pair of lesser scaup.

"Money from the sale of Duck Stamps is deposited in the Migratory Bird Conservation Fund and is used to add vital waterfowl habitat to the National Wildlife Refuge System." The low number of ducks estimated at this year's fall flight indicates the loss of wetland habitat and emphasizes the urgent need to acquire additional habitat to maintain declining populations of waterfowl. A total of 65,846 wetland acres are protected at a cost of almost $32 million. Over half of that amount came from the sale of Duck Stamps in 1988.

Sale of the 1988 Federal Duck Stamp and Souvenir card was concluded June 30, 1989. The 1989 editions for this incredible program will be available until June 30, 1990.

The third and final of three special die-stamped intaglio prints to be issued by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing for 1989, will be featured at the American Numismatic Association Show in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania on August 9-13, 1989. Carousel Stamp Receives International Award of Excellence

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing (Bureau) received the prestigious "Award of Excellence, Best Multiple Issue (pair, block, pane or sheet)" for the 1988 Carousel Stamp at the Government Postage Stamp Printers' Conference which was held in Perigueux, France on July 3-7, 1989.

A distinguished international panel of postage stamp designers and engravers from eighteen different countries voted to determine which stamp was the best issue in several categories. Representatives from Portugal and Sweden presented winners of this competition with beautifully crafted books to commemorate their achievements.

The Bureau's job began in the transformation of the original art, submitted by Paul Calle of Stamford, Connecticut, into a stamp sized rendering (model). Clarence Holbert (a Bureau modeler) reduced the art to a working model. And Bureau engraver, Thomas Hipschen translated the model into a soft steel engraving, capturing the fine detail of the subject in an intricate and precise web of lines. Dennis Brown completed the stamp by engraving the lettering.

Each of the five offset and three intaglio colors needed to print the stamp was engraved separately to preserve the color and clarity which was present in the original art. This technique helped to insure the alignment and resolution of colors in production and, ultimately, the beauty of the stamp.

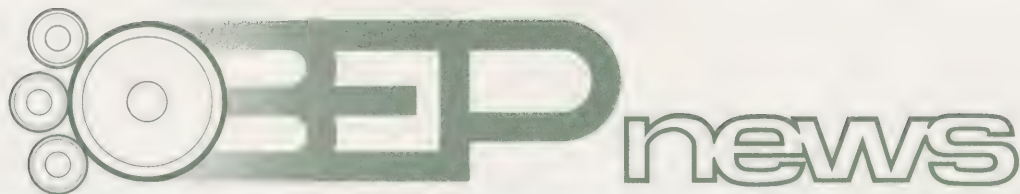

The Government Postage Stamp Printers' Conference first met in May 1986 at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. It was formed to promote artistic and technical excellence, as well as to exchange ideas among participating countries.

Bureau Concludes 1989 Exhibit Program with Stampshow

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing will conclude its FY 1989 exhibit schedule by participating in the American Philatelic Society's Stampshow to be held in Anaheim, California, August 24-27, 1989 at the Disneyland Hotel. The souvenir card issued for this final show features a distinctive 1923 postage stamp (14¢) of the Brule Sioux Indian Chief, Hollow Horn Bear. The card is enhanced by a second, larger, intaglio impression of the Chief created from a miscellaneous die.

The engraving was based on material provided by the Bureau of American Ethnology, now the Department of Anthropology at the Smithsonian, from a negative by Delancey Gill. Gill was employed as an illustrator and photographer with the Bureau of American Ethnology.

Bureau designer C.A. Huston is credited with adapting the material to a postage stamp sized rendition of the original photograph for use as a model for a team of Bureau engravers. The portrait on the stamp was engraved by L. S. Schofield, ornamental engraving by J.C. Benzing, frame engraved by E.M. Hall, numerals by F. Lamasure, and lettering by F. Lamasure and E.M. Hall. The larger miscellaneous image was created through the efforts of L.S. Schofield. Original dies #P0697 and #10644 were used to create this elegant souvenir card.
